

Michael Fleming
Chief Government, Military and Community Relations Officer
Jacksonville University

Mike serves as the Chief Government, Military and Community Relations Officer for Jacksonville University with responsibility for developing and maintaining effective relations with key government, military and community leaders to enhance achievement of the University's strategic goals. He was previously a Managing Director for Deutsche Bank, serving as the Site Lead in Jacksonville while also serving as the Co-Chair of Veterans on Wall Street, an initiative dedicated to honoring and employing veterans. Before joining Deutsche Bank, Mike was a career military officer with over 30 years of service including nine years of service in the U.S. Marine Corps and 27 years in the Army National Guard; where he ultimately retired as a Brigadier General. He has also held positions at American National Bank of Florida and General Electric Credit Corp. Mike holds a Master of Business Administration degree from the University of North Florida and Master of Arts from the United States Naval War College, and has served as a Congressional Fellow, National Security Fellow at Harvard University, and Foreign Affairs Fellow at Johns Hopkins University. He is the founder and Chair of the Jacksonville Military Veterans Coalition, a Public/Private Partnership with the City of Jacksonville and business community to provide employment opportunities for veterans, and the Northeast Florida Military Veteran College Network.